What was it like growing up in your family?

I grew up in a happy and simple family. My father has been working since I was young, and my mother is a full-time housewife. Since my younger sister and I are close in age, we did everything together, whether it was going to school or after-school activities, so I've always had a companion. Although I am from Hong Kong, due to my father's job, I attended Yew Chung International School in Shanghai and Taipei American School in Taiwan during my childhood.

Why do you want to become an egg donor?

The people around me often say that I have good background conditions, am in excellent health, and have a gentle personality, making me a suitable egg donor. I know I have no plans to have children in the near future, but I feel that doesn't mean I can't help others achieve their dream of building a family and bringing a new life into this world.

As for the rewards I receive, I hope to save a portion for my retirement fund, and with the remainder, I want to fully cover the cost of a family trip. My parents have always taken us on trips around the world, so I hope that one day, I can repay them by letting them experience what it's like to be pampered by me.
